

Northwest California Wilderness, Recreation, and Working Forests Act

Rep. Jared Huffman

This legislation will protect communities by increasing fire resilience, restore forests and fish habitat, strengthen local economies, enhance recreational opportunities, and protect important wild places on federal lands. It will not expand federal land, limit hunting or fishing, close any legally open roads or trails to vehicles, or affect access to or the use of private property.

Title I: Restoration and Economic Development.

This title reduces wildfire risks and restores damaged forests and watersheds on public lands.

- Designates a 730,000-acre Restoration Area in the South Fork Trinity River, Mad River, and North Fork Eel watersheds in Trinity and Humboldt counties to restore and maintain fire-resilient forests and aquatic habitat.
- Authorizes old growth redwoods restoration and collaborative partnerships to carry out the work.
- Restores public lands affected by illegal trespass marijuana grows by establishing a partnership of federal, state, and local entities to facilitate the recovery of land and waters damaged by illegal marijuana growing sites.
- Authorizes construction of interagency visitor centers in Trinity County and Del Norte County. These centers would interpret the natural, historical, and cultural resources of nearby federal lands.
- Requires federal agencies to cooperate and coordinate fire management in northwestern California's wilderness areas. This pre-fire planning is especially important in large wilderness areas managed by multiple agencies.

Title II: Recreation.

This title improves recreation opportunities and trails on public lands for residents and visitors.

- Designates the Horse Mountain Special Management Area and directs the development of a comprehensive long-term plan to ensure that existing uses are carefully managed for continued recreation and conservation.
- Explores the possibility of establishing a recreational Trinity Lake Trail.
- Authorizes a study for the Bigfoot National Recreation Trail, which would expand public access and highlight the immense ecological diversity of this region's ancient forests and other unique landscapes.
- Designates the Elk Camp Ridge Recreation Trail for motorized and non-motorized recreation.
- Directs a trails study that would explore ways to improve motorized and non-motorized recreation trail opportunities, including mountain biking, in Del Norte, Humboldt, Mendocino, and Trinity Counties.
- Directs a feasibility study of mountain biking trails in Del Norte County, and authorizes construction, if feasible.

Title III: Conservation.

By designating federal lands as "Wilderness" and rivers as "Wild and Scenic," this title provides the strongest levels of federal protection to old-growth forests and endangered salmon and steelhead river habitat in this region.

- Expands ten existing wilderness areas and establishes eight new ones. It would protect important and unique biodiversity and would not substantially impact timber harvest. The proposed wilderness and potential wilderness represent just 2.5% of land currently open and tentatively suitable for logging in Del Norte, Humboldt, Mendocino, and Trinity Counties. Wilderness designation only applies to federal lands.
- Designates 379 miles of new Wild & Scenic rivers, and mandates federal agencies to create management plans for 101 miles of existing wild and scenic rivers only on public lands. The Wild & Scenic designation prohibits the federal government from licensing, permitting, or funding new hydroelectric dams or major diversions on protected stream segments. Existing water rights are not impacted by designation.
- Establishes the Sanhedrin Conservation Management Area, where the U.S. Forest Service would focus on conserving, protecting, and enhancing late-successional forest structure, oak woodlands, and grasslands.
